Avoid distracted driving

Never text while driving. Be careful when eating on the run.

Watch for the road signs

They will often suggest areas that are populated with more deer.

Update your proof of insurance

Time of day is critical

Often deer are more active during dawn and dusk hours.

Stay in your lane

Brake firmly but do not cross the center lane into potentially on-coming traffic.

Have a plan for roadside assistance

Have the number for your insurer or roadside assistance ready.

Important note:

Some towing companies take advantage of drivers after an accident and you could find yourself facing excessive fees or complications recovering your car from the tow yard.
